
The general aims of [DPMS] are the promotion of knowledge in the particular object, the growth of research in relevant scientific regions, the cover of needs in administrative, technical and scientific executives of postgraduate level. The special aims of direction Protection, Maintainance and Re-establishment of Architectural Monuments it is the benefit of special education, additional the basic study, and specialised knowledge, so much theoretical what practical character for the study, maintainance, re-establishment and restoration of architectural monuments, totals and archaeological spaces, as well as for the protection and re-establishment of traditional settlements, historical centres, historical landscapes and landscapes particular natural beauties.