

Afterwards the first phase we began to break the compact boxes that we had created and we shaped a mesh from walls.

Prevailed the logic that certain fat walls will support the shelter will be the holder organism of building and the remainder elements will be glass. It thus began a game [kenoykai] [pliroysopoy] the vertical elements they changed continuously place.